THE PIUTE FARM.
[From the Carson Appeal.]

Our wily and 'cute friend Natches is going to be a farmer at last. He is going to do what no other Indian Chief in Nevada has ever done for his people before —provide them with a comfortable home and the means of sustaining themselves.
The Hamilton Register of yesterday informs us that "the Railroad Company has presented to Natches, and a few other Piute a section of good farming land on the Big Meadows in this county. Natches has for several years been desirous of becoming a farmer, but could not find land in this section where he desired to reside, that he could cultivate, being no means necessary to that end.
He looked with a longing desire for Alex.
Wise's ranch in Pleasant Valley, and wished the Government would assist him in purchasing it and start him going; but that could not be. When the irrigating canals were dug at the Big Meadows he recommended him to go down there and take up some land. He went down and selected his section, but did not dare to go ahead and improve it, without some title to it, fearing that some white man would jump it and run him off. So last season he did but little on it. Now through the kindness of the Railroad Company he is secure against imposition, and a colony of Indian farmers will be planted in Hamilton county. The whites of the Meadows have promised to render him all assistance necessary in preparing the ground for seed, and any other assistance in their power. This is a move in the right direction. By a little encouragement most of the Indians in this section can be brought to earn their own living and accumulate property, by tilling the soil.
They can have and enjoy the product of their own labor they will be willing to work; but where, as on the Reservations, they are swindled on every corner, and the profits of their labor go into the pockets of thieving Indian Agents they will do nothing. Indians are not all fools, although they have red skins."

A Chicago woman has been the wife of four brothers. She began with the oldest one, who was a young man, and he died young, and he died. She soon married the next younger, and after three years got a divorce from him, and the third was divorced from her after about the same period of wedded life. She is now the wife of the fourth, and they seem to live contentedly, possibly because there is no fifth brother for her to capture.

It's a queer fact, but it appears to be one becoming more evident year after year, that the graduate of the best college in the country cannot infuse more sudden life into a street-car mule than can some fellow who never washed and who smells Jerusalem with a little "g."

No just about this, it's a simple statement of fact going the rounds of the newspapers: "Into every married man's mind there sooner or later enters the conviction that he cannot dress his wife in plain clothes and keep the current of his affection for him flowing at a spring-fresh gait."

"Bruce had recourse to the sword, Tall to bow and arrow, and Washington appealed to the God of battles; but when a woman strikes for liberty, she uses anything she can lay her hands on."
—[Brooklyn Argus.]

Nicodemus Barnes in the Brooklyn Argus: "Nothing will throw a New Haven divinity student into convulsions quicker than to surprise a Connecticut girl in the act of sliding down the banisters."
